530 FULLERTON FOUNDATION
RECOGNIZED WITH “AT&T INVESTING IN ILLINOIS AWARD”

CHICAGO, IL MARCH 18, 2014 — AT&T Illinois today announced 530 Fullerton Foundation is the winner of an “AT&T Investing in Illinois Award.”

530 Fullerton Foundation receives public recognition and a contribution of $10,000 from AT&T to be used to support to provide resources to support the continued operation and growth of the Foundation’s “Food for Friends” program, which annually serves 12,500 hot meals to Chicagoans in need of a secure, supervised community environment.

“At AT&T, we’re investing for today and tomorrow. As our customers continue moving to new Internet-based communications technologies like Internet home phone and wireless, we are investing in next generation communications networks. At the same time, we are also investing in the communities we serve, by making corporate contributions to Illinois non-profit groups and programs that are making a difference locally,” said Paul La Schiazza, President, AT&T-Illinois.

Senate President John Cullerton nominated the 530 Fullerton Foundation for an AT&T Investing in Illinois Award with the strong support of State Representatives Sara Feigenholtz and Ann Williams.

The AT&T Investing in Illinois Awards provide resources and recognition to organizations and programs that are improving lives in their communities and the state by advancing education, economic growth, new technologies and other essential community services.
